Blauparts is proud to make available VW Touareg rear differential oil for the locking style differential where G 052 196 A2 differential fluid is required.

Ravenol MDL is a lubricant for Multi-Disc locking differentials such as clutch-type Lamella limited slip differentials. Ravenol MDL is designed based on high-quality refined solvent and synthetic base oils with special additive treatment and inhibition for higher stress clutch-type Lamella limited slip differentials such as those found in the VW Touareg models with differential lock and ensures trouble-free differential function and reliability.

Ravenol MDL Features:

- excellent oxidation stability
- excellent protection against rust and corrosion
- prevents foaming
- outstanding extreme pressure properties
- excellent limited slip properties
- fuel savings

Note: For G 052 196 A2 gear oil applications, capacities, and technical information see this product page under technical information.

Note: Consult your service manual and confirm the specific differential oil specification requirements for your make and model.

Note: This gear oil should be used in VW Touaregs with locking rear differentials only.
